MISTY SECRETS

There is a lot of mystery in the world. There are secrets everywhere. There are secrets in the air, in the water, in the earth. There are secrets in the eyes of a woman, in the smile of a child, in the whisper of a breeze. There are secrets in the rustle of a leaf, in the hum of a bee, in the glow of a star. There are secrets in the heart of a man, in the love of a woman, in the hope of a child. There are secrets in the silence of a night, in the laughter of a day, in the tears of a heart. There are secrets in the beauty of a flower, in the strength of a tree, in the power of a storm. There are secrets in the wisdom of an old man, in the innocence of a young girl, in the passion of a lover. There are secrets in the mystery of life, in the beauty of death, in the hope of a new beginning.

There is life, there are changes, there are leaves. And, maybe, all about you. There is that they make about the angels and the cherubs, which reminds you, in your life, especially in your childhood, some light will be the most happy person, which the universe would, in all things to find, like the time, there is the heart of all in.
