

A woman is seated, wearing a traditional Indian outfit. The main garment is a mustard yellow or gold-colored kurta with intricate silver and green embroidery, including small circular motifs and a central vertical line of beads. She is also wearing a dark green shawl or dupatta with a decorative border. Her accessories include a large, ornate necklace with circular pendants, matching earrings, and a ring. She has her hair pulled back and is looking towards the camera with a slight smile. The background is a light-colored, possibly stone or wood-paneled wall.
